LAWRENCE PINE, Pfc. in the Marines, writes to his parents: "I'm still driving the ambulance for the 854th Aviation Engineers. I go to the hospital every day, and see some of the casualties they're bringing from Iwo Jima. At least the people back home can donate their blood as it saves a lot of lives. These kids are giving their lives and limbs. If some of the people could see the hell some of these kids go through, there wouldn't be any strikes. They are doing it for $50 a month and are deprived of a lot of things those back home have, those making $300 and $400 a month gripe because of cigarettes and gasoline shortage and other things—these kids would gladly change places with them for $50. I'm not griping. I have had it easy—all the time. It's those kids in the front lines I'm talking for." Said he was going to see "RED" MARRIOTT Sunday.

—V—

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. George Bonde of Niles that their son, GEORGE BONDE, Jr., has arrived in Italy. He is a volunteer in the American Field Service.

He is also survived by his sisters, Mrs. Elvina Pine of Niles, Mrs. Lena Oliveira, Mrs. Julia Ray of Oakland, Mrs. Mary Martin of Pleasanton, and by a brother, Delmer Martinez of Decoto.

TO ASSIST VETERANS WITH EXEMPTIONS

Marston C. Dassel, deputy assessor, announced this week that he will be at the Veterans Memorial Building in Niles every evening from March 26 through March 30 to assist veterans in filing exemptions.

Dassel calls attention to the following provisions:

Property to the amount of $1000 of every resident of this state who has served or is serving in the military is exempt.

This exemption, however, does not apply to any person owning property to the value of $5000 or more or whose wife owns property of such value.

A person serving in the armed forces may be represented by a member of his immediate family or by his legal representative, who may make and subscribe to the affidavit on his behalf.

POST-WAR PLASTICS TO COME SLOWLY

There is little likelihood that plastics or new metals will be substituted for standard structural building materials in the early postwar years, according to the Producers' Council, national organization of manufacturers of building materials and equipment.

"Introduction of the new materials will be gradual because it takes a number of years to establish their performance characteristics, to secure wide distribution, and to teach building trades mechanics the necessary techniques for using the products," a recent bulletin of the council states.

"Meanwhile, these new products will appear principally in building accessories, such as hardware, lighting fixtures, and domestic equipment, or will be substituted for established products which can be used in the same manner as the materials they replace."

Among the postwar building products presented to designers in the bulletin is a complete line of new modular sizes of metal windows, co-ordinated with the dimensions of other building materials as a means of reducing costly cutting and fitting in construction.

In addition, the present new designs in bathroom fixtures made from non-critical vitreous materials, improved methods of baseboard panel radiation to maintain more even temperatures from floor to ceiling in homes, awning type windows with simple controls which open and close all panes simultaneously, and standard sizes of household shower cabinets manufactured complete with pre-cast receptors.

Other products which are expected to be generally available soon as restrictions on manufacture or private building are liberalized are: threadless, non-ferrous pipe and fittings to be assembled with the use of solder; lumber especially treated to resist attack by fire, insects, and rot; an improved form of asphalt tile which is adapted for heavy-duty service and provides resistance to denting and a non-sparking, non-slip surface; light-steel sections for use in residential construction and many types of commercial structures, and improved insulation for electrical wiring which increases the current carrying capacity and decreases the size of the conduits and fittings.

CHILD GUIDANCE CLASS STARTS NEXT MONDAY

The class in child guidance, for mothers and teachers, under the direction of Mrs. Roger Barker of Stanford, has its opening session next Monday, March 19, at 2 p.m., in the Niles School auditorium.

For the benefit of mothers who would be unable to attend because of small children to care for, there will be two eighth grade girls to look out for your little ones, during the session. This announcement was made at the P.T.A. meeting held Tuesday.

Mrs. Baker, who comes all the way from her home on the Stanford campus to give this course, is well qualified to give such a course, having had experience in child guidance in schools as well as in her home.

In addition to the general discussion, there will be a question period at the end of the class, at which time mothers or teachers may speak privately to Mrs. Barker on any problems they would prefer not to discuss in class.

The class is free to the public. Anyone wishing to enroll may do so by getting in touch with Mrs. L. A. Mayer of Niles or Warren Gravestock at the high school.

FRANK P. GEORGE IN NEW BUSINESS

Latest new business for Alvarado is a new store recently opened by Frank P. George.

George's Appliance Store is occupying the Naharro building which was formerly a shoe store. The building has been remodeled and lighting has been modernized.

George, who for a number of years has been distributor for General Petroleum products in Washington Township, will retail stove oil heaters, gas heaters, cooking stoves, water heaters and electrical appliances. The line will be enlarged as the war's end increases manufacture.

A COOKIE ALMOST BLINDS NILES BOY

A strange accident in which a cookie nearly cost a little boy the sight of one eye occurred this week on the Niles school grounds.

Little Larry Lamoreux, who celebrated his ninth birthday only last week, was playing with some other boys who were tossing cookies around. Suddenly Larry doubled forward in pain. The jagged piece of a cookie had struck him in the eyeball. His mother, Mrs. W. F. Lamoreux, was summoned and rushed him to Dr. Buehler's office. Dr. Buehler advised her to take the child to a specialist in Berkeley immediately; a hemorrhage was feared.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lamoreux hurried him to Berkeley, where the specialist was consulted. He advised a five-day rest in bed, saying he would be unable to tell until that time just how severely the eye had been injured.

All on account of an innocent-looking little cookie!

SUPERINTENDENT AT KRAFTILE

Leslie R. Alt, formerly ceramic engineer and production manager for the Sioux City Brick and Tile Company in Sioux City, Iowa, has come to Niles to be plant superintendent at Kraftile.

He takes the place of George Sladek, who has moved to southern California.

Mrs. Alt and their 17-year-old daughter will join Mr. Alt some time in June, following graduation of the young lady from Sioux City high school. She will continue her studies at some college in California.

At present Mr. Alt is living at the Belvoir Hotel in Niles.

PUBLIC FORUM AT IRVINGTON

The first meeting of the community forum at the Irvington Elementary School last Tuesday evening was well attended and highly interesting.

Under the leadership of Emmett J. Roberts, high school social studies instructor, the group discussed the Dumbarton Oaks conference.

The forum has been reopened in Irvington by popular petition. Mrs. Mary Griffen organized the group.

HEARING ON LAND USE PLAN IN OAKLAND TUESDAY

Second hearing on the adoption of a land use plan, part of a master plan for Alameda county to regulate unincorporated areas, will be held Tuesday, March 20, at 2 p.m. in the court house in Oakland.

This hearing is another step required by law before local hearings can be held in areas concerned.

Although the supervisors' action on the matter of zoning is being taken in response to a petition presented by the Washington Township Planning Committee, much interest is being shown by other county areas, particularly the area between Hayward and San Leandro.

MRS. MORENO GIVES 16TH PINT OF BLOOD

Mrs. Adele B. Moreno, of Westvaco, donated her 16th pint of blood last Friday when the mobile unit visited Niles! She is the first two-gallon donor to sign the local register.

Altogether there were 167 donors.

Starting May 11, blood donors will be able to have their blood typed, stated Mrs. W. L. McWhirter, chairman. The center will be services by the mobile unit from the Oakland chapter instead of the unit from San Francisco as heretofore. Typing of the blood will allow those who have type O blood to give whole blood, which is so urgently needed.

Names of other blood donors did not reach The Register in time for this issue; they will be published next week.

C. W. KRAFT WILL SPEAK IN NORTH

C. W. Kraft, president of the Kraftile Company and director of the Producers Council, national organization of manufacturers of building materials, has gone to Oregon, where he will meet with the Oregon chapter of the council March 19. He will speak on the subject "Modular Design."

Kraft will also address the Oregon chapter of the American Institute of Architects in Portland March 20. Then he will meet the next day with the Washington State Chapter of the Producers Council in Seattle.

SCHOOL CAFETERIA INSTITUTE HERE

A Cafeteria Institute for school cafeteria managers and interested principals in Southern Alameda County will be held at Washington Union High School on April 14 at 10 a.m. The program will feature various food demonstrations and the prepared foods will be served for lunch.

Mrs. Josephine Morris will be in charge of the arrangements.

DR. T. C. WILSON EXPLAINS AID FOR VETERANS

Dr. T. C. Wilson of Niles spoke to fellow Rotarians yesterday at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Florence Restaurant on the subject of government help available to men discharged from military service.

Dr. Wilson stated that veterans of this war are being discharged from centers near their homes to minimize risks of loss of discharge pay and transportation money.

He explained that service men who wish to continue education, enter business or rent or buy farms will receive adequate help from the government.

The educational advantages offered, he said, are particularly advantageous. Any service man, within two years after the termination of the war, may at government expense complete his education in any desired field.

NILES IS HOST CITY FOR Y. L. I. MEET

De Guadalupe Institute, Y.L.I., will be hostess to the District Y.L.I. in Niles on Sunday, April 22, at the Odd Fellows Hall. A large attendance is expected.

This will be the second meeting of District No. 3, which includes Hannah Institute, De Guadalupe, St. Jude and All Saints. Josephine Baratini of Sacramento, grand president, will be present.

District Deputy Mary Foss and her quorum of deputies are making arrangements for the day. The deputies are Mrs. Hortense Avilla, Niles, deputy to Livermore; Mrs. Ethel McManuus, Alameda, deputy to Hanna Institute in San Leandro; Josephine Cummins, San Leandro, deputy to De Guadalupe Institute, Niles; Mrs. Margaret Crane, deputy to St. Jude's Institute, Irvington; Mrs. Anna Perry, Irvington, deputy to All Saints Institute, Hayward.

Mrs. Laura Mayer is general chairman and the hostess committee includes Mmes. Viola Dias, Mayme Roderick and Eleanor George.

The officers for the day are being chosen by the deputies. There will be a musical program and an initiation, recognition to be given to the institute presenting the largest class of candidates.

ST. JAMES GROUNDS ARE CLEANED UP

Hoes, rakes and lawnmowers went into action last Sunday afternoon when members of St. James Episcopal Church in Centerville turned out to clean up the grounds.

A second session will be held this Sunday from 2 to 4 o'clock. Participants report that in addition to improving the appearance of the grounds they noted a pleasing diminishing of their own girths.

Of Progress and Pessimism

EDITORIAL

It's not so easy to get a dirty-faced boy to wash clean and be presentable to company. And it's not going to be easy to get the business district of Niles to make its face shining and clean. With its present architectural project, the Niles Chamber of Commerce has picked a pretty big job for itself.

Yet we have no doubt that the plan will succeed. What opposition will be met has shown itself already.

There are those who say, "What has the chamber of commerce done? Why, I belong, but I don't even bother to go to the meetings!"

The man who makes a remark like this does not convict the chamber of commerce; he convicts himself. What organization can be expected to accomplish anything if its members don't attend meetings?

Business men active in the Niles Chamber of Commerce have done things, though, and such pessimists are wrong. It was in a chamber of commerce meeting that a "township planning committee" was first discussed, and "better lighting" and "zoning" first mentioned.

Our township planning committee got us better lighting, and zoning is in progress. Just this week it came to our attention that both San Leandro and Hayward are now trying to get in on the credit for initiating county zoning. But it happens that the idea was born in a Niles Chamber of Commerce meeting and was presented to the county supervisors by the township planning committee.

There are those who simply say of this architectural plan—as of any new idea—and without reason: "It won't work." With these few words they sentence the face-lifting project to failure, without even bothering to try to find reasons.

These are the scoffers. They like the ruts they are in. They fear progress.

When next you hear a man scoff at a new idea simply because it is new, ask yourself:

Does HE have a right to scoff? Is HIS business up-and-coming? Does HE work for the betterment of his community? Is HE courteous to his patrons in his business? Is HE ever alert to give his customers the best in service and merchandise?

No, he usually isn't.

But we don't worry about this "it-won't-work" minority.

There are enough progressive business men in Niles to put over this face-lifting project on Main Street.

Just watch. When building materials and manpower are again available you'll see Main Street with a clean new face!

HURRY UP, KIDS . . . YOU MAY WIN $10!

Principal E. D. Bristow of the Niles Grammar School reports mounting enthusiasm among his students over the essay contest announced in The Register last week and sponsored by the Niles Furniture Company. Prizes are: first, $10; second, $3; third, $2.

The contest is open to all pupils of the Niles school. Title of the essay is "WHY MAIN STREET SHOULD BE MODERNIZED."

This contest will set young minds to thinking of community improvement. Every child has a chance. Perhaps someone in the fourth grade will have just as good, or even better ideas than one in the eighth.

Contest judges were named Monday by President D. Q. Grabill of the Niles Chamber of Commerce. They are: Mrs. Gladys Williamson, Dr. T. C. Wilson and L. R. Batman. Names will not appear on manuscripts, identification being by numbers.

So get out your pencils and paper, boys and girls, and get busy. TEN DOLLARS! Ask your teacher about the contest. YOU might be the one to win!

The contest will close Friday, March 23.

NEWMAN RETURNS FROM TRIP EAST

Marion Newman, comptroller and general manager of Pacific States Steel Company, returned Monday from a business trip to New York and Washington, D.C., where he had been for 30 days on matters of contract and conferences with the WPB and OPA. Mrs. Newman accompanied him on the trip.

A member of the Niles Rotary Club, Newman attended two Rotary meetings in New York at the Hotel Commodore. There he heard an address by William Badt, assistant chairman of WPB, who explained the necessity of retrenchment of production of civilian manufactured goods as a result of the "battle of the bulge."

In civilian life, Badt is president of the SKF roller bearing company, largest manufacturer in its field in the world. According to Newman, he stated that war production will continue as at present up until the actual signing of peace, even though this policy necessarily will result in heavy surpluses.

FORMER NEWARK RESIDENT TO BE BURIED IN HAYWARD

Friends of William Smith, former Newark resident, learned this week that he had passed away at his home in Los Angles.

He was 65 years old when he died Wednesday morning. He had been employed as a foreman at the James Graham Manufacturing Company for many years before moving to the southern part of the state, where he also worked in a stove manufacturing plant. He and Mrs. Smith, who survives him, had many friends in and around Newark.

He is also survived by two daughters and two sons: Dolly Smith of Los Angeles, Mrs. Marie Begley of Oakland, Sgt. William Smith and Joseph Smith of Stockton.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning at the Pratt Mortuary in Hayward at 9 a.m.

DEMONSTRATION OF RELIGIOUS CLASSES ON MARCH 23

Mothers and friends of Protestant children who have been studying in the week-day release time education classes, will be interested in an announcement made this week to the effect that Mrs. Hutman, teacher, will hold a demonstration class, March 23 at 8 p.m. in the Giuld rooms of the Niles Congregational Church. All parents and friends are invited to attend this interesting demonstration and the social hour with refreshments that will follow.

During the demonstration, the children, under Mrs. Hutman's direction, will answer questions and take part in a general discussion in order to give the parents a clearer idea of the work accomplished in the religious classes.

Rev. Evaul, pastor of the Presbyterian parish, will also be present to take part in the demonstration.

$500 GIVEN TO RED CROSS BY MASONIC HOMES

War is nothing new to the elderly residents at the Masonic Home in Decoto. They have lived through several wars. But they have not become hardened to war, or to the suffering that war brings.

This fact was proved this week when it was announced that those in the Masonic Home had contributed $500 to the Red Cross War Fund Drive! $500, made up of pennies and dimes and dollars that might have been spent on the little luxuries that are dear to the hearts of older people. It was no little sacrifice for them, as it was for those of us who give dollars and still don't have to deny ourselves the little things we want, for their income is meager, it depends upon gifts from relatives and little odd jobs they do around the Home.

Total collection to date at the Home is $518. Mrs. Lillian Piers, Mrs. Virginia Lord, and Mrs. Henderson had charge of collections, assisted by several others.

Total collection for the township is $7,339, or 43 per cent of the quota, according to Robert Blacow, township chairman of the drive.

FIND HAM-AND IN STALLED CAR

Pete Kallas, former Niles restaurateur presently on a five-year probation for conviction on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, pleaded not guilty Tuesday at Niles Justice Court to being drunk in and about a car. He demanded a jury trial and will appear before Judge J. A. Silva March 23.

Kallas' arrest Monday started as an investigation of an automobile backed into a ditch on the Niles highway near Mission San Jose.

Patrolling on Niles Road, the deputies found the car stalled in the ditch, part way on the highway. The motor was smoking, a rear tire was burned almost off the wheel, the tube was lying in pieces on the ground, and there was an apparent fresh dent in the fender.

Pete Kallas of Gonzales, driver of the car, greeted the deputies with the remark that the car wouldn't start and added that he had lots of meat tucked away in the trunk compartment. He had gone to Niles to buy the meat for a restaurant he operates, he told the deputies.

They took Kallas away to jail and booked him on a charge of intoxication. The meat in the back of the car—two 5-pound hams, two large legs of pork, two sides of beef, one box of hot dogs and one 100-pound tub of lard—they took to a Centerville restaurant to keep on refrigeration.

ALVARADO DRESSES FOR SPRING

Niles boasts about its face-lifting on Main Street. But while Niles is boasting, Alvarado takes action!

The Alvarado business men have become improvement-conscious in a big way, as witnessed by the fact that several of its business buildings are undergoing remodeling. The Alvarado Hotel, for instance, is spic and span in its new white paint with green trim. The Naharro Building is being restuccoed and painted. Other owners of other buildings are waiting only for the paint and the painters before they too begin to spruce up. Look out, Niles!

CAST CHOSEN FOR SCHOOL RADIO PLAY

The cast for the radio play to be presented by the seventh grade of Niles school over KLX April 14 has been chosen, according to E. Dixon Bristow, principal.

The play, written by the seventh-graders themselves, is in observance of "Be Kind to Animals Week." It will be directed by Mrs. Rathbone, seventh-grade teacher.

In the play are: John Meeker, Rafael Andrade, George Rego, Maxine Weissenbacher, Billie Gene Calhoun, Irene Andrade, Pat Moore, Will Dale, Larry Thatcher, Rosena Hester, Don Pine, Joan Pereira, Clarence Chivers, and alternates Raymond Andrade, Mildred Rose and Edna Gregory.

Sportsmen's News

By GEO. R. AZEVEDO

The Register is pleased to present this new column, which will appear from time to time as space permits. George Azevedo is president of the Newark Sportsmen's Club. News of general interest is gleaned from the West Coast Sportsman. Mr. Azevedo invites inquiries on sporting affairs and will answer them in this column.

A bill has been presented to the legislature by one of our state assemblymen which should be of interest to every sports salmon fisherman in California.

This bill would raise the tax against the commercial salmon take from half a cent per pound as at present to 5 cents per pound.

As an explanation of the desirability of such a raise it might be pointed out that the half-cent salmon tax under the California Fish and Game Code is earmarked for the construction and operation of salmon hatcheries. Not one cent of that tax is spent on maintaining patrols, collection of fees, or research.

That means the money necessary to keep up these operations must come from some other source. Of course the commercial fishermen pay a $10 per year license, but since there are only a few hundred such fishermen in California the amount derived from that source does not go very far. The major portion of the salmon conservation bill has been pressed onto the sports fisherman.

Since the commercial fishermen catch the major part of the salmon runs, it seems only fair that they should also pay the major part of the money needed for salmon conservation.

The increase from half a cent to 5 cents is unreasonable and out of proportion, but the original bill can be amended and the commercial fishermen be required to carry a just part of the load of maintaining the valuable salmon runs of California. — West Coast Sportsman

Los Angeles County recently reported 14 fires caused by the use of tracer ammunition. Thus it is evident that military ammunition is getting into the hands of civilian hunters who are using it without knowledge of what they are shooting.

Hunters should never shoot any cartridge without first knowing that it was specifically manufactured for the type of weapon in which it is to be used. If there is any question in your mind concerning the safety of shooting a particular type of cartridge in your gun, play safe. Write any of the arms or ammunition companies for advice before taking a chance. —West Coast Sportsman

Because of the tea it was decided to serve no refreshments at the regular April meeting; and both the April and May meetings will start at 3:15 p.m. instead of the usual 2 o'clock in order to give Mrs. L. Forgotten Favorites

These days, when meals aren't everything they used to be, a little ingenuity in the kitchen goes a long way. For new variety in meals . . . we suggest these old-time favorites. You know, sometimes there's nothing as new as an old forgotten recipe.

HOMEMADE NOODLES

1½ cups all-purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 egg
2 tbsp. water

Sift flour, measure; sift again with baking powder and salt. Beat egg slightly in bowl. Alternately add flour mixture and water, working in all flour. Place on lightly floured board and knead one minute. Roll dough paper-thin, roll up as for jelly-roll; cut in ¼-inch widths. Unroll and shake out, separating well. Drop into rapidly boiling liquid; cook uncovered 20 minutes until tender, keeping liquid at a rolling boil during entire cooking period. Serves 6. Note: The noodle roll may be wrapped and stored unsliced in refrigerator.

Note: To carry out a St. Patrick's Day color scheme, 1 cup finely cut parsley may be added to flour.

BREAD PUDDING

3 cups milk
3 cups soft bread crumbs
3 eggs
¾ cup sugar
¼ tsp. nutmeg
1½ tsps. grated lemon rind
¼ tsp. lemon extract

Pour milk over bread in large bowl and let stand about 20 minutes, or until bread is well soaked. Add egg yolks, ½ cup of the sugar, nutmeg, and lemon rind. Beat with rotary beater until thoroughly combined. Pour into well greased 1½ quart baking dish or individual custard cups. Bake in pan of hot water in slow oven (325° F.) 1 hour and 20 minutes if in baking dish, or if in individual custard cups, bake one hour, or until almost firm to the touch. Remove from oven and the pan of hot water. Top with meringue made by beating egg whites until just stiff; add remaining ¼ cup sugar, gradually, beating well after each addition; continue beating until mixture holds peak; add flavoring. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 15 minutes, or until meringue is brown. Chill. Serve with spoonfuls of jam or jelly. Serves 6.

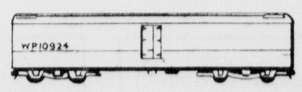
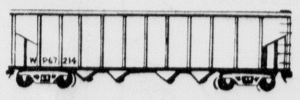
Serving a World-wide Front

SINCE THE WORLD WAR began it has been our job to serve an ever increasing war front that now literally covers the globe. No passenger equipment has been obtainable since Pearl Harbor However, the Western Pacific has been able to purchase a large fleet of steam and Diesel powered locomotives to transport an ever increasing volume of passenger and freight traffic—men and materials bound for the war fronts.





To the West Coast and to the East our trains roll daily delivering precious minerals and perishable products that are on the "must" list for war and civilian use. Those products come from the San Francisco Bay area, the rich valleys of California, the historic Feather River country and the plains of Nevada, plus the diversified minerals and agricultural products of Utah.

As we check daily our heavily loaded and seemingly mile-long freight trains and our capacity-filled passenger trains, we pause to think: Today we are proudly serving the war fronts of the world and the home fronts of America. Tomorrow we look forward to serving the ever growing West, the world distribution of the products of this great area, and those who like to travel for pleasure as well as business.

Thinking Things Over . . .

By VIVIAN BATMAN

If you've got that feeling of getting-away-with-something, because no one has come to your house to ask for donations for the Red Cross War Fund drive, you ought to be ashamed.

You're the kind of person that would go into a store and buy the last chocolate bar with a lot of youngsters standing there with their mouths open. You're also the kind of person who will pretend you don't know your library book is overdue so you won't have to pay the fine. And you're also the kind of person who slyly peeks at your opponent's hand in a card game.

If you're interested in giving to the Red Cross — and goodness knows you ought to be — contact your town chairman and GIVE.

HUSBAND APPEAL

A friend of ours whose husband has been in northern Canada for the past year with an oil company is preparing to meet him in Victoria. During his absence she has put on considerable weight, so now she has put herself at the mercy of a masseuse. She is being thumped, pounded, almost — one might say — being whittled away. Besides that, she exposes herself to steam baths and performs daily on some sort of diabolic rowing machine. And her diet would leave a canary hungry.

We think this is a wonderful spirit on our friend's part. After all, husbands are hard to get.

But it leaves us wondering — what is her husband doing before HE meets HER? Is he doing bending exercises for that avoirdupois around his middle? And is he massaging the receding hair line on his scalp every night? We rather think not, but then, of course, he may have become so rugged during his year in Canada that these measures would be unnecessary.

Which brings us to the point: We are constantly reading in current periodicals about ways to hold our husbands. But how many articles are written telling husbands how to hold their wives?

THERE ARE EXCEPTIONS

Of course there are exceptions, like the husband in "Frenchmen's Creek." By the way, were you disappointed that the heroine didn't go off with the pirate in the end? Be careful how you answer. A lot of your own personality is revealed in whether you say yes or no.

A friend of ours made the remark that "Frenchmen's Creek" was an exploitation of sex. We're inclined to disagree. We think, on the other hand, that it was an exploitation of photography — the most beautiful (with the possible exception of "Gone With the Wind") that we have ever seen on the screen.

But speaking of movies — we'll take "Janie." It's the most all-around entertaining picture we've seen in a long time.

OIL COMPANIES CONSOLIDATE

Consolidation of two important west coast oil companies was announced this week by the General Petroleum Corporation and the Gilmore Oil Company, according to information received by Frank George, township distributor of General products. Operations will continue under management of General Petroleum, marketers of Mobilgas and Mobiloil.

General's military leave policy will apply to all Gilmore employees who are in the armed services or who may join. Under this arrangement designated dependents of such employees will receive each month a payment representing a substantial portion of the difference between the pay and allowances granted the employee by the government and the salary that was being paid when the employee went on leave. Jobs will be waiting for all of them when they return.

General Petroleum has always directed sales efforts through independent dealers, said George. The union of these two groups of independent dealers will enable the company to extend its services.

The San Francisco Opera House, probable scene of the United Nations Conference, is the only municipally owned opera house in America.

Wining and Dining

By ROBERT MAYOCK

(Editor's Note: Rob Mayock is enroute to Washington and will describe some of his experiences with food and drink not only in the Nation's capial but en route.)

Well, it looks as if Mary Frost Mabon were not in error when she mentioned Ernie Byfield's Pump Room as an excellent place to eat in her new book, "A Meal in Itself." The Pump Room is in the Ambassador East Hotel in Chicago. I saw no pump but there were abundant other devices to pump one dry there.

Mayock

For one thing I saw a very fine duck press. The duck season was over of course, but other diversions were much in evidence. They were carrying food all around the place on flaming swords. It's one of the cleverest ways of serving certain foods I've ever seen. In retrospect I have decided to add to it a method which could only have been thought up by a gourmet of experience. It combines the method of the wild Caucasian tribesmen of broiling meat upon their swords over a fire and the more sophisticated method of flaming a "coq au vin," as practiced by the Dukes of Burgundy in the medieval city of Beaune.

What actually happens is that they put chicken livers and small pieces of bacon on the sword alternately the way George Mardikian would put marinated lamb on a skewer to make a shish kebab. After the livers are broiled, high proof brandy is ignited in the cupped sword-guard and the waiter walks with this flaming sword to the table. The flaming gives the tender morsels a glaze such as is effected in the familiar flaming of a "coq au vin."

FLAMED CHICKEN ROSSINI

The same flaming on the sword is also applied to pork tenderloins, sweetbreads and mushroom and milk-fed chicken Rossini, in which truffles play a large part in the flavoring.

"Ah," some gourmet will say to himself, "and how does the Pump Room come by truffles in these degenerate days?" My answer is that I don't know; and since I don't eat chicken Rossini I'm not prepared to prove the statement. But I believe Ernie Byfield has truffles because in one refrigerator box alone I saw more fresh caviar than I thought existed. Not only that but he has both the Seoruga Caviar and the Beluga Caviar, selected and inspected by caviar experts under the supervision of the U.S. S.R.—and Colonel McCormick contends that nothing good can come out of Russia. Shame on you, Colonel.

SCHOONMAKER WINE LOST

Not only caviar but some of the world's finest vintages are to be had in abundance in the Pump Room. Many of the better California vineyards are represented; such as Wente Brothers, Louis Martini, Almaden Vineyards, Beaulieu Vineyards and Larkmead Vineyards; but also oenological giants as Romanee Conti, Reichbourg, Clos Vougeot, Le Chamberton, and Romanee Saint Vivant in the Red Burgundies. And in the clarets such items as Lafite Rothschild in magnums, Haut Brion, Margaux and Latour—all of them premier gran crus. Also my old favorite Ausone (whose first owner in 450 A. D. was also a man of letters) and Gruaud Larose Sarget.

Is this proof enough, Mr. Gourmet, or do you still contend I should have been more cautious about assuming that truffles were used in the chicken Rossini?

Shall I confound you further and name all the white wines which my friend, Frank Schoonmaker, selected for Mr. Byfield in France? No. upon more mature consideration, I think I will not; because I don't know your name to begin with and I scorn to use such august weapons against a nameless adversary. I will content myself with telling you that it will cost you $3.50 to burn your fingers pulling that milk fed fowl off the hot sword, $7.50 to cool your throat with a glass of 'divine' Monerachet and you won't hardly have your seat warm before "lend lease" will have to bail you and your companions out!

So go ahead, you doubting Thomas, and peefl away at that bird in search of a black truffles, I don't care. I'll be laughing at you while I eat "diced tenderloin of beef Bourguignonne" at $1.85 per copy, washing it down with a Hermitage from the Rhone Valley only costing $3.75, and which can scarcely be distinguished from a greater wine at that time of night —particularly after consuming all those shallots which go into a beef Bourguigroinne.

Chinese farming is so intensive, and the average farm so small, that the Chinese have been called "gardeners rather than farmrs."

The Royal Flying Corps first came into existence in May, 1912.

The Need Is Great for Used Appliances

WHILE you're house cleaning or rummaging around in closets, basement or garage you may discover some idle, usable or easily repairable appliances. If you are not using them why not swap or sell them?

We have set up in our local offices a clearing house service for appliances. Here you can list the appliances you would like to sell or swap. Here also other customers list their needs for certain appliances. After this, buyer and seller deal with one another.

Use this free listing service and do a wartime "good deed" by helping some young or hard-working wartime family get appliances they desperately need but cannot buy elsewhere.
